Media image 'distorted'

Citizens angry over city's notoriety

BELLE GLADE—A group of citizens asked city leaders, "Can we stop them?"

The answer from Mayor Thomas Altman offered scant comfort to the frustrated concerned citizens and property owners.

He told them, "No."

The issue at this week's commission meeting was what the citizens characterize as a distorted image of Belle Glade as portrayed by out-of-town newspapers and television stations.

Spokesman Lawrence Dixon said, "What we're facing is not reality, it's a lie."

Mayor Altman echoed the frustrations. He said, "I've talked to over 100 media representatives and only three of them gave this city a fair treatment."

He added, "We've agonized over this for 80 days."

Dixon said that he's aware the city has problems but he said other cities have equal problems.

The citizens were concerned that as images of Belle Glade reach further and further and deeper and deeper people will be reluctant to move here or start businesses here.

The mayor said, "We've got a tough adversary in this situation."

He commented, "The press has a great deal of power. The power to shape public opinion is the greatest power there is in a democracy."

He noted that news reports are "not so much put together with lies. They just give a false impression.

The mayor announced that a magazine, as yet unnamed, is going to do "an upbeat story" about Belle Glade.

It won't be a large circulation magazine but will give a different picture of the city.

Another citizen complained that Channel 23, the Spanish station, recently ran a documentary about Belle Glade which showed only the negative side of the city.

The citizen wanted to know if the station

Marina unveils fishing Village plans to city

BY GENE ANTONIO

BELLE GLADE—The first phase of a plan to develop an area of the marina into a fishing village was unveiled this week.

J-Mark Fishing Village will consist of 209 units of one-and-two-bedroom apartments. It will also feature an enclosed swimming pool, expanded restaurant and marina store, recreation area and meeting rooms.

A sketch plan was presented to the City Commission Tuesday by the developer, Jupiter Development Corporation of Jensen Beach and the engineers, Shalloway Inc. of Lake Worth.

The owners of the property are Mike and Jim Challancin.

Developer representative Mike Chason told commissioners that for the past 18 weeks data has been gathered to determine the direction this project should go.

He called the property "unique," saying the 5.2-acre site is "the only piece of property that can be developed in the lake area."

Response to the plans has been favorable. In three months 20 interested persons each put down $7,000 in deposits.

Chason said, "What we're doing is pretty close to what the public is looking for out there."

He also noted that the Florida League of Anglers has expressed an interest in using the fishing village as its Freshwater Fishing Headquarters.

The 27,000 member group, along with other wildlife and conservation groups, would hold meetings and other activities in Belle Glade.

The plan calls for the building of 209 units of 400, 600 and 800 square feet. The buildings would be either four or five stories.

The buildings would be constructed of concrete. They would be built off the ground so that cars and boats could be driven underneath.

The buildings would probably be sold as condominiums. Buyers would be able to rent out their apartments when they were not using them through the management company.

The idea, according to Engineer Dan Shalloway, is to create "a resort atmosphere."

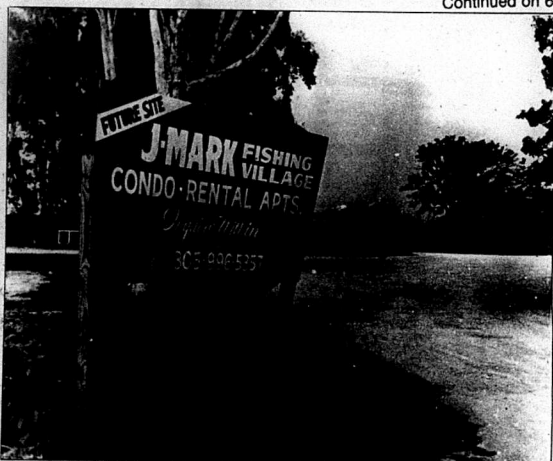

The project is being designed to offer a "hotel environment."

Although there remain some legal wrinkles to iron out and some permits have not as yet been obtained, developers are confident the project could be underway soon.

It is expected the project will take from two to three years to complete.

City leaders were assured there would be no problem with traffic or fire protection in the proposed site.

The developers will come to the city several more times as plans progress.

THE FIRST PHASE in developing J-Mark Fishing Village was discussed this week. Plans call for four and five story buildings to house 209 apartments. Also on the drawing board are an indoor swimming pool, a restaurant and meeting rooms. The development will have "a resort atmosphere."

City reverses stand, gives OK to liquor store

BY GENE ANTONIO

BELLE GLADE—Last month the city put the cork on plans to allow a liquor store on Main Street. But the cork wasn't tight enough and this week it went flying into the air.

But not everybody is cheering about the city's decision to approve the liquor store plans. If anything, city leaders made more enemies than they did friends.

The vote on the emotion-packed issue was three to one. Voting in favor of the go-ahead for the building at the corner of South Main Street and Southeast Avenue D were Mayor Thomas Altman, Commissioners Claude Tindall and Charles Goodlett.

The lone dissenting vote came from Commissioner George Goforth, an opponent of the move from the start. Commissioner Daniel Byrwood was absent at Tuesday's meeting.

The issue of building a liquor store on the vacant lot started last month when property owner Thomas Bonavia came before the commission wanting permission to use the property to sell drinks in containers, such as frozen daguarris and other drinks in paper cups.

The city was met with a barrage of protests from members of the Masonic Lodge which is in the same block as the proposed liquor store.

At that time the city said it would not be a good idea to have that kind of activity in that area of the city. Mayor Altman also said he would consider a compromise involving a liquor store which did not sell the drinks in cups.

This week Bonavia came before the commission again and reminded them of their compromise suggestion. He told them George Farnell, the liquor license holder and future building owner, was there "in a spirit of compromise."

But local Lodge members, Eastern Star members and mothers of Rainbow Girls were not in the mood to give an inch on the issue of a liquor store near the lodge.

Former Lodge Master Dr. Robert Allen said, "We don't want that thing there." He added, "A liquor store draws the wrong kind of people."

He expressed concern for the Rainbow Girls being harassed by people coming out of a liquor store.

The mother of a Rainbow Girl said, "You're putting our girls in jeopardy to put a little money in Mr. Farnell's pocket."

She asked, "Would you want your daughter or granddaughter there?"

Mayor Altman argued that the site is in the Funeral procession 2 miles long

Residents mourn doctor

Approximately 900 people attended the funeral Tuesday of Dr. F. H. Potete, Jr., a prominent Glades physician who died Saturday evening following a heart attack. The funeral procession was over two miles long.

"Total disbelief" were the words used by Wethering Funeral Home Director James Bennett to describe the feelings of the Glades community following the spreading of the news of the death.

Bennett said his telephone rang constantly for two days following the news. He said many people called to ask if the reports were true, and then hung up crying when the worst was confirmed.

Dr. Potete, who was 62, resided at 357 Kismet Ave. in Pahokee. He was the son of the late F.H. and Zula Cooper Potete. He was born on June 17, 1923, in Water Valley, Mississippi.

He had been a resident of Pahokee since 1958, when he moved here from West Palm Beach to open a medical practice. His offices were located in the building with Dr. R.L. Hatton on Begonia Avenue in Pahokee.

Bennett said of Potete, "He was more than just a doctor to his patients, he was more like a member of the family. He gave himself totally to the community."

The funeral home was besieged with flowers, according to Bennett, who said 214 pieces of flowers were sent by members of the community. Many gave donations to the American Heart Association in Dr. Potete's name.

Dr. Potete was a graduate of Delta State University, where he received his Bachelor's Degree, University of Mississippi, where he completed his pre-medical work, and Northwestern University, where he received his Medical Degree.

He was a member of the Palm Beach County Medical Association, the American Medical Association, the Southern Medical Association, the American College for General Practice of which he was a Charter Member, and the American College of Surgeons.

He was also a member of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, which honored him with the Community Distinguished Service Award in 1982 for his years of Professional Service. He was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Potete is survived by his wife, the former Marilyn Nason; three daughters, Debbie Ferretti of West Palm Beach, Donna Larson of Pahokee, Vickie Miller of Belle Glade.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. in the First Baptist Church, Pahokee. The Rev. Joe Hudson, pastor, and the Rev. B. Ray Stedham, pastor of the Canal Point Baptist Church, officiated. Interment was in Port Mayaca Memorial Park.

Serving as pallbearers were Dr. R.C. Lane, Herman Hendrix, Boyd Varhies, Julian Branch, Hugh Branch, and David Unwin.

As honorary pallbearers were Dr. R.L. Hattton, Dr. Caesar Orduña, Dr. Bernardo Fernandez, Dr. Jose Cisneros, Dr. Jesus Mendez, and Flynn Scott.

Wetherington Funeral Home, Cypress Chapel, Pahokee, had charge of the arrangements.

Price supports vital to sugar industry

WASHINGTON--An independent study of U.S. sugar policy to be released today by the Congressional Research Service finds that sugar production and price stability is vital to the survival of the U.S. sugar industry and "can only be provided under present circumstances by direct government intervention," a policy it says is followed by all major sugar producing nations.

Congress is expected to approve a new sugar program when debate over the Farm Bill begins next month. This study is a strong endorsement of the current sugar program and deflates the arguments of critics who contend that consumers would benefit from access to the so-called world market price for sugar with a program," said Eiler Ravnholt, Vice President of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association.

The study concludes that "world prices, because of their residual nature, do not represent a solid basis on which national policies can be built."

It points out that world sugar price governs only about 5 percent of world sugar consumption. The study argues that U.S. sugar policy should be guided by the issue of "whether in the long run the total costs of domestic production would be greater or less than the costs of sugar from alternative sources."

It finds that "the U.S. sugar industry has been cost competitive, and despite changes in the nature of the sugar cycle, it may well remain on a par with the long run average of world production costs."

"If domestic sugar can, on average, be provided competitively with imports, then there is a good prior case for keeping the efficient parts of the industry alive," the study concludes.

Comparing current U.S. prices to the average real world free market price of raw sugar, the study states that "current U.S. price supports do not appear to be unduly high."

The current loan rate is 17.75 cents per pound compared to the 17.5 cent per pound average real world price during the period 1951-1984, the study observes.

Current sugar program proposals call for a loan rate of 18 cents per pound.

The study, entitled "World Sugar Trade and U.S. Sugar Policy" was prepared by London-based Landell Mills Commodities Studies, an independent research firm, for the Congressional Research Service, the research arm of Congress. It was requested by Rep. Daniel Akaka (D-Hawaii), Rep. Bob Traxler (D-Mich.), and Rep. Virginia Smith (R-Neb.).

Futch-Longoria announce wedding plans

PAHOKEE -- Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Futch, Jacksonville, are proud to announce the August 17 wedding of their daughter, Miss Sandra Futch to Mr. Jose Longoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalo Longoria, of Pahokee.

Miss Futch is presently employed by the City of Pahokee, and her fiancé is employed by the United States Sugar Corporation.

The ceremony will be held at the First Baptist Church in Pahokee, beginning at 6:00 p.m. The parents of the

All friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend.

CITY COMMISSIONERS worried the wooden bridge leading to the marina area might pose a problem when the proposed fishing village is opened. Developers assured city leaders the proposed condominiums would not cause traffic problems on the bridge or anywhere else.

Goodbye Glades...

BY GENE ANTONIO
With this issue of The Herald I'll be saying good-bye to Belle Glade and to the friends I've made here in the Glades.

The seven months I've spent here have proved to be both interesting and enjoyable. From a journalist's point of view Belle Glade is by far the most fascinating place I've ever covered.

There's an excitement and energy here which excels other cities. The diversity of people, the hope for the future and the sense of pride in the face of great odds would be hard to match.

In the short time I've worked here I have seen a number of changes for the better. These changes are more subtle, and more important, than better streets, new schools and the other things people like to point to when discussing progress.

Here in Belle Glade I've noticed a marked sense of hope and faith in the future. The people here are certain things are getting better and that Belle Glade will have its day.

I have decided to leave journalism and go back into an academic environment. After writing for newspapers in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and now Florida the fun has gone out of the work so I'm leaving before I get nastier than I was meant to be. When I started out in this business an old editor warned me to watch out that printer's ink didn't get in my blood. I didn't know what he was talking about then, but now I understand.

Anyone who has worked as a news reporter knows it's the most exciting profession to be found. But for me it's time to move on to something different.

I'm saying mi to the people I've come to know here. Most of all I'll miss the people I work with here in Belle Glade: Brenda, Angela, Elke, Rose, Eric and David made coming to work a lot of fun. So long Glades and good luck...

Letters

Cable station criticized

The Following Letter was Presented to the City Commission at Tuesday's Meeting

Gentlemen:

Some of the citizens of this city watched a television program spot in the country and transmitted in Spanish on Channel 23 from Miami on July 31 which we feel needs to be called to your attention.

The above television program is called "SIN" and is on the air from 6:30 till 7 p.m. daily. The reporter Mr. Richard Brown, mentioned that Belle Glade is the AIDS capital in the United States.

In the program he shows our poor neighborhoods in the city. He interviews a black man who is missing both of his legs and a black woman who is bedridden most of the scenes shown are or filth, it seems like he is trying to make our city look like the dirtiest in the nation.

In his interview, Mr. Brown mentioned that the city of Belle Glade is almost an unknown spot in the country and you can hardly see it on a map. He also said we lack tourism or any natural beauty. In his interview all he mentioned was how the city is living through times of terror due to this epidemic. He never showed or mentioned any of the good things, such as schools, library, hospital, etc.

In the program they interviewed two doctors who mentioned that Belle Glade is the AIDS capital in the United States.

Later, some of the citizens in Belle Glade made telephone calls to Mr. Brown protesting of his bad journalism towards this city; he informed us that there were 34 cases of AIDS in the city and that at present there were no cases involving Latinos...but that's not the point, Belle Glade concerns all of us living here as part of one community or one big family.

For this reason we would like for Channel 23 of Miami, its President Mr. Rene Anselmo, Mr. Gustavo Godoy (Program Director) and Mr. Richard Brown (Newscaster) to retract their damaging program, since all it can cause is harm to the city we have called our home for more than 20 years.

We hope you can give this matter your best prompt consideration and hoping to hear from you.

Sincerely,
CATHY COLEMAN, APRP
Director of Community Relations

Thanks for VNA story

Dear Editor:
I have just read the story you wrote about VNA and I want to let you know how very much we appreciate the excellent job.

You captured the very essence of our work and your story was factual, easy to understand and well written. Again, thank you so much for the effort of getting to know about VNA. If we can ever be of help to you in any way, please don't hesitate to call. Best wishes to you.

It's all a part of the Church

The Jews were so jealous of who worshipped Jehovah/God that they built a five foot wall around the Temple courtyard, beyond which no Gentile could go. They prevented non-Jews entrance with their lives.

The Chosen People had forgotten God's promise to Abraham that not only would He be their God, but they would be "a light to the nations." Even after Christ gave His life for "whosoever believeth" the exclusive attitude prevailed among the Jews.

The Apostle Paul reminds the Ephesians that they were separated from Christ, aliens and strangers to God's Covenant. In fact, they were hopeless because they had no hope of the Messiah.

The Jews were exclusive in their smug feeling that they were special and on top of that they held to the special, King, Son of God, Deliverer-Messiah. Paul was trying to point out that this idea was wrong because their legalism did not include the generous love of God.

To solve the alienation and hopelessness of the Gentiles and the legalistic, ingrown lovelessness of the Jews came Jesus Christ. Christ came to lift the Gentiles above the level of animals and the hostility and the pride of the Jews.

When the covenant promises of God. The Ephesians had centered their lives around the worship of the pagan goddess, Diana. Their economy was directly connected with this heathen worship. Many silversmiths made silver replicas of Diana.

The Greeks showed their hopelessness in their tragedies and their poetry. Their Gods offered only temporary pleasure and honor. Their lives were truly like the leaves on the tree which blossoms and flourishes and withers and dies, and then nothing.

Some of the fetish of religion. They worshipped the form, the ritual, and the perfection of it. The law became a badge of pride and bondage. The liberty had gone out of religion.

Jesus Christ came into the hopeless innoasce. The Jews were not the "light to the nations." The Gentiles laughed at the idea of one God. He broke down the wall of hostility.

The Ephesians were brought near by the blood of Christ. No longer were they outside the love of God seen in Jesus Christ. The peace of Christ now makes us one because He has broken the barrier.

The legalism of the Jews is out-dated, out-moded, and has been replaced with Christ's reconciling love. Liberty in Christ has replaced the legalism which is motivated by the self-sacrificing love of Christ raises both Jews and Gentiles to a standard above the Ten Commandments. Divorce and adultery are unthinkable for the Christian because of the new moral standards.

The relevance of this reconciling love comes home to us today. The evil part of our personality makes us separated, alienated, and estranged to God.

We are separated from Christ because we won't accept His love. We don't want to trust it. We do not believe in it enough to trust Him. This leads to alienation and estrangement.

Thank God that Christ will come back to us and through the Holy Spirit bring us to the realization of His sacrifice for us. Finally somewhere along life's road, through something of someone, we come to the point of accepting Christ's peace which unites us, reconciles us, and makes us a member of the household of God.

When we have come home then we become a part of Christ's fellowship. A fellowship for all and inclusive, not exclusive. A fellowship which makes more perfect by the addition of others. The church then is truly the home of the Spirit of Christ, where all men who love Christ meet and worship in that Spirit.

West Tech evening classes

Registration is now open for fall-term classes at West Tech. Many glades area residents are learning new vocational skills and improving job skills in evening classes at West Technical Educational Center according to Assistant Director, Steve Stahlsmith.

Students enroll for many evening vocational classes as a way to gain new or upgrade existing technical job skills. Stahlsmith has found adult vocational students to be nearly always highly motivated. He said they seem to enjoy the time spent in evening classes at the Center. After talking with students, he feels many are learning new skills that can be used on the job. Interested persons can enroll for part-time evening classes which are scheduled from 7:00 p.m. - 10:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Adults who want to enroll for evening classes should call 996-4930 or visit the Center. A wide range of courses are offered in Agriculture, Business, Parts Marketing, Industrial and Trade Education and Health Occupations. Access to all programs and courses is open to individuals without regard to race, sex, handicap, or national origin.

Basic skills training offered

Do you need help getting basic training for a job? Do you need help with basic reading and language skills? West Technical Educational Center provides a basic vocational training service to adults living or working in the glades area.

The Individual Manpower Training System (I.M.T.S.) is a basic skills program designed to help individuals. Any person having problems related to career and vocational training should contact the student services office at the Center for more help. The program has a small registration fee and many former students report that this service is helpful and offered in a friendly way. Economically disadvantaged persons can qualify for fee waivers. Many student, upon leaving this program, have gotten new or upgraded jobs. Interested persons should call 996-4930 or visit the Guidance Office at West Technical Educational Center for more information.

Happy Birthday JOE

Altman said, "If you could convince the operator it might get some attention."

The mayor noted there have been positive effects to all the negative press Belle Glade has received in the past several months.

He said, "We're going to persevere. We're going to be here." He commented, "This pressure has brought unity and that's positive."

He added, "Dan Rather or Newsweek might not say anything about it but we'll be a stronger community."

In other business, the commission acted on the following:

-Agreed to purchase a moving tractor to be used at the marina. The price is $19,187. Another $15,626 will go for upgrading electrical hookups at the marina.

-Appointed Sonny Crawford to move up from alternate to regular member of the Planning and Zoning Board.

-Appointed Fenton Hollingsworth III to the Civil Service Board.

-Accepted the resignation of Pat Meier from the Library Board. Posponed appointing someone to replace her.

-Heard the first reading of an ordinance providing Southern Bell Telephone Company with a franchise as a public utility.

center of town and indicated that a liquor store would not be any more dangerous than any other type of business.

He said, "If we convince someone to build a garden there it won't decrease the danger."

The mayor explained that property owners have rights just as citizens have rights.

He said, "It's a tough call sometimes for both parties to exercise their rights."

To Altman's argument that the center of town should be developed, Commissioner Goforth said, "I don't think this business adds anything to Belle Glade."

He added, "There's a lot of things better than a liquor store."

The mayor said, "If you use that rationale we should buy the property ourselves."

The issue will come up for a second reading. If it passes then plans can proceed.

That liquor store will be added to the names of Everglades Liquor, Tiny's Package Store, Golden Glades Liquor and Larry's Package Store.

Beer and wine can also be bought in any convenience store or grocery store in the city. In addition there are a number of taverns, clubs and other drinking establishments within the city limits.

Horticulturist to hold monthly seminar in Glades

Many people enjoy growing annuals and flowers in their landscape, but are totally unfamiliar with the many different types that are best suited for our area and also what months are best to plant these and how to control various insects and other pests that attack annuals.

To assist residents in the proper selection and use of annuals for our area under local conditions, Gene Joyner, Urban Horticulturist with the IFAS Palm Beach County Cooperative Extension Service will be conducting a series of free slide illustrated seminars on annuals and flowers at the following times and locations: Thursday, September 5, 2:30 p.m., Belle Glade Extension Office, 2976 State Road 15, Belle Glade.

In addition to the slides, there will be a lot of excellent handout literature available to those attending and all questions to the care of annuals in this area will be answered.

Everyone is welcome regardless of race, color, sex, or national origin.

Body found in pit identified

BELLE GLADE—Palm Beach County sheriff's detectives Tuesday received tentative identification of the body of man found floating in shallow water last week.

The body is believed to be that of Robert Charles Morris, whose last known address was Miami.

According to last Thursday by an

Richard A. Browning of the Sheriff's Office, the identification came from fingerprint investigations made by the Metro-Dade Police.

He said Tuesday detectives here are pretty well convinced that the identification is correct.

The body was found last Thursday by an 80-year-old woman who was fishing near a rock pit south of Belle Glade in an unincorporated area of Palm Beach County.

Investigators at that time listed a fractured skull as the cause of death. They said the man was struck in the right side of the head.

From the start the sheriff's department will use a priority item with everyone in the department doing some work on the case.

The next phase of the investigation will be to learn everything they can about the murdered man—his records, his friends, his business and his movements during the days before he was killed.

Sergeant Browning says he hopes to have something positive "within the next few days."

He said the murder

report.

City police say that after Garza had given them statements about the burglary, he was confronted by Bennett, the boy's mother, and Russell, the boy's aunt. They threatened him with bodily harm.

Garza took the threat seriously and returned to the police station. He told police what had happened.

Both suspects were arrested for tampering with a witness. They were placed under a $1,000 bond each.

Russell, 25, lives on SW Avenue C. Bennett, 31, lives at the same address.

Youth arrested, tampering charged

BELLE GLADE—An 11-year-old child was arrested Saturday afternoon and charged with the burglary of a Sunbelt Cable Company truck.

Police say more arrests are pending in the burglary which resulted in two witness tampering arrests.

The burglary arrest resulted from the actions of a Sunbelt employee. As Ross G. rza returned to his parked truck he observed several people in the cargo area attempting to steal cablevision boxes.

As Garza approached, the suspects ran. He caught the 11-year-old child.

Eight cable boxes valued at $150 were lying around the truck.

The juvenile was sent to the Division of Youth Services.

Following the arrest of the boy Ross Garza, the Sunbelt employee, was threatened by Shirley Bennett and Anita Russell, police report.

City police say that after Garza had given them statements about the burglary, he was confronted by Bennett, the boy's mother, and Russell, the boy's aunt. They threatened him with bodily harm.

NO INJURIES were reported in this two-car accident on the corner of Main Street and Southeast Ave. F Monday about 2 p.m.

Sunday church thief no choirboy

BELLE GLADE—A city man is spending a lot of time in church but for the wrong reasons.

The music director of the First Baptist Church alerted police to a burglary Sunday about 6 p.m. which led to the arrest of a 21-year-old Canal Street man.

Authorities say the same man was recently released from jail after being arrested for the burglary of the United Methodist Church.

Jerry Lee Jones, 21, of 1108 West Canal Street South is being held in the Palm Beach County Jail in lieu of $3,000 bond.

The man was spotted by Truman Hartzog, the music director of the church. He called police and told them a man was inside the church.

When police arrived Hartzog had followed the suspect outside. He had by then fled the church, leaving the stereo unit he was carrying behind.

He ran from the area and was last seen heading down Main Street.

An investigation revealed the man had removed the stereo from a storage closet.

It was part of a speaker system.

Further investigation by police located the suspect. He was taken back to the church where Hartzog identified him as the suspect inside the church.

School burglarized, teenager confesses last Thursday about 6 p.m.

Police searched the area of the school and found the boy in the gold block of SW 14th Street.

He confessed to the burglary. The stolen bracelet was recovered and the boy was sent to the detention center in West Palm Beach.

Police arrested the boy after a description of him was given by an unknown complainant

Health a part of learning

The relationship between learning and health is an issue that usually is honored more in words than deeds.

In this community, school nurses are providing services aimed at identifying student health problems that interfere with learning and at reducing student absences caused by preventable illnesses. Most educators support the premise that good health experts a positive influence on academic achievement. To determine the potential worth of a comprehensive school health program, school boards need only look at the number of student absences for preventable health problems; uncorrected vision problems, hearing losses, and the limitations that may be imposed on students by a disabling illness such as asthma, seizure disorders, diabetes or heart disease.

Sounds of silence

EMPTY CLASSROOMS will be filled come August 26 as Hendry and Palm Beach County schools swing into action for 1985-86.

Standing by...

EVEN THE school buses seem anxious to swing into action, ready for daily runs, exiting football games and interesting field trips.

School's opening soon

Palm Beach County Public Schools open on August 26th this year. Certain requirements must be met before students new to the system or entering the ninth grade can be registered.

The following information is designed to make the registration process as simple as possible:

1. Students entering kindergarten, first grade, or ninth grade must have proof of a physical examination within the last 12 months and a complete immunization record including the dates of measles immunization. The requirement for a physical can be met for registration purposes with proof of an appointment for a physical, scheduled within 30 days after the start of school.

2. Younger students new to the system should have a birth certificate. Older students who have a copy of their last report card should bring it.

3. Elementary school children who were in the Palm Beach County School system last year are probable pre-registered, but parents are advised to contact their children's school to determine if they must fulfill any additional requirements.

Students in Palm Beach County Public Schools will receive the health services described: vision and hearing screening (grades K, 1, 3, 5 and 7), growth and development screening (K, 1, 2 and 3), scoliosis screening (grade 7) and personal health assessment and counseling (relating to specific problems; upon request). Students will be exempt from any of these services if their parents or guardians request such exemption in writing.

Although the official student registration date is August 21st, parents are encouraged to register their children anytime after August 5th. Information on bus scheduled are available at the individual schools.

Emergency cards at school

Every year the schools send home with each child an emergency card to be filled out. This is a card to help the school find someone to care for the child when the parent is not available.

Often a child becomes ill at school and the parent is out shopping or at work where they cannot be reached. In this event, we need the name of a close friend, relative or neighbor who would be available to pick up and care for the sick or injured child.

Also there is a place on the card to list medical problems that the student has now or has had in the past. This especially includes things like seizures, caused by any fever, accident, epilepsy, allergies of any kind; any problems that the child has that might need attention at school.

Please ask around where you live for someone who will allow you to put their name and phone number on this card. It is important!

The last notice on the card asks if you do not want your child to participate in the screening at the school to please send a written note to school.

We are looking to a healthy, happy school year where each child is able to work to his full potential, not held back by a health problem.

Head lice an ongoing pest

Lice have lived on human beings for thousands of years. In fact, traces of lice have been found on the skulls of prehistoric American Indian mummies and references to lice infestation appear in ancient Egyptian and Greek writings. Yet, despite the numerous achievements in virtually every field of medical knowledge, the problem of lice infestation persists and is growing in our society.

Transmitted by various forms of human contact, lice infestations can spread swiftly and are difficult to get rid of. The problem is particularly common among school children, who are inclined to share various articles such as hats, sports headgear, combs and brushes, and to engage in contact sports, roughhousing and other activities involving bodily contact.

The potential for lice has become a matter of increasing concern to school health officials, who may be confronted, not only with the difficulties of detection, but with the need to provide proper consultation to infested children and their parents, as well as to cope with parent and/or child embarrassment.

Lice infestations are not responsive to simple preventative procedures and can not be identified with particular economic or social groups. Infestations can occur in any school at any time.

Classroom discussions concerning personal hygiene should include cautions to students against borrowing other people's clothing, brushes, combs or other personal objects. In these classes, teachers and school health officials should advise students that lice infestation can be a serious problem, causing discomfort and possible skin irritation.

Students found to have head lice will be sent home with the parent, and will not be allowed to return to school until he or she has been treated and all nits (eggs) removed. Removing nits is not an easy task, but a very important one. A fine tooth comb may remove most of them but the remaining ones should be caught between the fingers and pulled to the end of the hair shaft.

It is suggested that all family members be checked daily for at least two weeks and retreated if lice are found.

The only "prevention" for lice is to check your child's head frequently (2 or 3 times a week). Watch for repeated scratching, and do not be embarrassed because your child has head lice. It can and does happen to everyone.

Immunizations required at schools

Immunizations are required for children and young people as preventative measures against the following diseases: Tetanus, Diphtheria, Whooping Cough (Pertussis), Polio, Measles, Mumps, Rubella (MMR). The schedule for these is as follows: 2 months - DPT, Diphtheria, Whooping Cough, Tetanus & Polio. 4 months - DPT & Polio. 6 months - DPT.

15 months - Measles, Mumps, Rubella. 18 months - DPT & Polio. 5 years - DPT & Polio.

Every 10 years thereafter - DT. As a preventative measure the school requires a certificate of immunization for all students entering Florida public schools for the first time, that gives the number and date of last shot for the DPT & Polio. For the MMR we need a complete date, that is, the month, day and year. These certificates may be acquired at the health department or a private doctor's office. Students entering Florida public schools for the first time, in kindergarten, or any other grade, are required to have a physical exam and the parent should give the doctor as much information about the child's medical history as possible, particularly anything that might affect his or her well being at school.

A birth certificate is also required for all newly entering students. You may get this at the health department also, but apply for this early in the summer so that if it must be requested by mail, you will receive it in time for school opening day, August 26, 1985.

Taking medicine at school

Occasionally it is necessary for a child to receive medication during school hours. Unless it is an absolute must that he or she have it during these hours, it is safer and better that it be given at home.

The medication must be in the original container with the student's name, date of prescription, doctor's name, name of drug, directions for dose, and the time of day the medication is to be given. Also the parent should discuss with the doctor whether the medication could be given before and after school hours.

To request that medication be given by school personnel, it is necessary that the parent come to the school for consent forms and then to return the consent form and bring the medication to be given.

But children don't always see you. That's why it's more important now that school is in, to be extra alert on the road. Their lives depend on it.

The Palm Beach County School Board today announced its policy for free and reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs.

The district's School Food Service Office has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out the application and return it to the school. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and may be verified at any time by the school or other program officials.

For the school officials to determine eligibility, the household must provide the following information listed on the application:

1. The total monthly household income must be listed by the amount received by each household income must be listed by the amount received by each household member receiving income and the type of income it is (such as wages, child support, etc.)

2. Names of all household members.

Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

Under the provisions of the free and reduced price meal policy, the schools will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent or guardian is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If the parent wishes to make a formal appeal, he may make a request either orally or in writing to: Joy B. Miltenberger, Director of School Food Service, 3323 Belvedere Road, West Palm Beach, FL 33402, for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

If a household member becomes unemployed or if the household size changes, the school should be contacted.

Such changes may make the children of the household eligible for reduced price meals, or for additional benefits such as free meals for them, if the household income falls at or below the levels shown above.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a household has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

is confidential and will be used only for purposes of determining eligibility and verifying data.

In the operation of child feeding programs administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, no child will be discriminated against because of race, color, sex, national origin, age or handicap. If any member of a household believes they have been discriminated against, they should write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, DC 20250.

Homework blues

The purpose of homework is to train students to work independently and to review and master skills taught during class time. Homework should not be casually disregarded by child or parent, but at the same time, it should not be a stress-provoking situation that exhausts the child's enthusiasm for school the following day.

For many parents, striking an appropriate balance between the child's overwork with homework can be difficult. Parents often wonder how much supervision they should impose on the child's homework activities and whether or not the teaching process will be affected by their interference.

Experts in the field of education have offered specific suggestions as to the best degree of involvement parents should have in their children's home studies.

Parents should provide a suitable work space with the proper equipment. The child will need a desk or table, adequate lighting and appropriate reference materials such as a dictionary, atlas or encyclopedia.

Outside distractions should be minimal, but the student need not be removed from the family's evening activities if he prefers the closeness of the family environment.

Parents should not initiate "helping" students by supplying answers or correcting errors. Mistakes enable the teacher to accurately determine the child's educational needs. If homework is not representative of the child's abilities, that student loses out when the teacher is determining follow-up studies.

If the child requests that you "check" his or her work, the parent may do so by pointing out where the mistakes are. But, be sure that the child attempts to correct the errors through his own efforts, and is not simply coming to you for easy answers.

If the child seems truly stumped on a particular assignment, the parent can ask leading questions in order to encourage the student's thought processes, or suggest to the child how or where the answer might be found.

Finally, be sympathetic to your child's complaints about excessive homework or boring assignments. If your child seems particularly overloaded with schoolwork, temporarily excuse her from a regular family chore to allow the student some relief from excessive pressure.

School crossing guards needed

The Clewiston Police Department is looking for school crossing guards. Applications can be picked up at the Police Department at 205 W. Ventura. The job requires one hour in the morning and one hour in the afternoon. For additional information, call Sgt. Janet Taylor at 983-6500.

Stress in school

Going to school for the first time is a stressful experience for any youngster, one that the wise parent can help make easier.

According to psychologists, it is important that the youngster learn to depend on adults other than his or her parents before entering the classroom. Shifting dependency from parents to other adults, and accepting their authority will make the transition smoother for the beginning student.

It's important to not make a "big deal" out of going to school; taking it as a matter of course will help the child to resign himself to the inevitable.

Nutritious lunch ideas from home

The school bell not only signals the return of the kids to the classroom, but a focus once again on school lunches.

With many federally-funded school lunch programs being cut, parents will want to be certain that the lunch box they pack contains a nutritious meal, yet one that is enjoyable for the child to eat. So here are two ideas that are not only fun eating, but are packed full of goodness as well.

SpaghettiOs with sliced frank in tomato sauce can be carried in a wide mouth thermos. Mix grated cheese, sliced carrots or other vegetables into the SpaghettiOs before spooning into the thermos. Then, round out the lunch box menu with a juicy apple, a special treat of a chocolate cupcake with fluffy buttercream-walnut topping and milk purchased at school.

Chunky Vegetable Soup heated with sliced frank and additions of cooked macaroni, pasta or noodles also makes a nutritious lunchtime meal when teamed with a hard roll, fresh fruit and a glass of milk.

Vision and hearing

One of the most common problems with school age children is a vision disorder or hearing disorder.

Every year we screen for these disorders in kindergarten, 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th and 12th grades. If we find that there is a problem with either of these tests, we bring them to the health room for a second screening. If there is still a problem, then we notify the parent that the child should be taken for a check-up by an optometrist or ophthalmologist.

In order for us to know that these children have been treated, or that they do not need treatment, the parent needs to contact either the school or the nurse at the health department with the results of the doctor's exam.

Sometimes it is financially impossible for the parent to get a medical exam for the child. If this is the case, parents should contact the nurse to see if we can find someone to do the exam.

When the child goes to the doctor and perhaps is fitted with glasses, he or she needs to continue wearing the glasses until they are examined by the doctor again and he "discontinues" the use of them.

For hearing exams also we need a report from the doctor as to the results and suggestions for helping the student.

Many students who do not achieve in school may have a vision or hearing problem. If you feel that your child might have a problem, you can send a note to his teacher asking to have him or her checked. Teachers also may request that students be checked.

Please try to cooperate when you receive a letter requesting a check-up. We try to be sure before we send them out.

Tuberculin skin test in schools done in Oct.

During the month of October the health department goes into the schools to skin test students in grades 1, 4, 7, 11, and 12. In order for the student to have this test, a permission form must be signed by the parent. Students in high school, who will be entering college the next fall will be required by the college to have had this test.

This simple skin test can help to show whether you have TB germs in your body. All that's done is to put some harmless material called tuberculin into the surface layers of the skin, usually on the forearm. The place on the skin where the test has been made will be examined a few days later. The results will be:

1) No reaction or doubtful reaction which means your body probably does not contain TB germs.

Sometimes you may be asked to have the test repeated in 8 weeks to make sure.

2) Positive reaction which means that some TB germs, or germs like TB germs, have entered your body lately or a long time ago. This does not mean that you have TB, or that others can catch your germs.

If you have a positive reaction, you will be asked to have a chest x-ray. Even if the x-ray shows no disease, the doctor may prescribe pills every day for a while to make sure you stay well.

For good health it is necessary to have a TB test every 2 years. If you have ever had a positive test, you will always have a positive test and should not take another test, but if you have a cough that lasts for several weeks you should have a chest x-ray.

Athletic teenage girls play to win but eat to be thin

Most athletes eat foods they believe will make them stronger or faster, but many athletic teenage girls are more concerned about being thin than eating for maximum performance.

The desire for a thin physique, along with increased physical exercise, may cause a decrease in the quality and quantity of a girl's diet. A study published in the May, 1985, issue of the Journal of the American Dietetic Association warned that poor diets can affect the growth and development, as well as athletic performance, of adolescent girls.

Authors Mary Ferron, R.D., and Joanne Endres, Ph.D., R.D., of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, studied a group of teenage female volleyball players. At least 70 percent were not consuming enough calories, calcium and iron.

Inadequate nutrients

Previous studies show that many teenage girls have inadequate amounts of these nutrients in their diets. The research by Ferron and Endres draws attention to the additional needs imposed by athletic competition.

The deficiencies of the young athletes could not be attributed to lack of knowledge or a poor attitude about nutrition. The authors suggest that concerns about weight were a key factor. Eighty-eight percent of the subjects said they worried about gaining weight; 73 percent wanted to lose weight.

It seems surprising, then, that a third of their dietary choices were desserts, sweetened beverages, sugar, condiments and salty snacks. Rather than give up foods they enjoyed, the girls cut calories by avoiding foods they liked less. They were more concerned about controlling weight than getting nutrients that would contribute to their sports successes.

Only about 10 percent of total food servings came from the milk and meat groups. This explains the low intake of calcium and iron, which fell below 67 percent of the Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA) for these two nutrients. Both are essential for growth and influence physical performance.

The American Dietetic Association (ADA), the nation's largest group of nutrition professionals, urges parents to look for innovative ways to encourage eating patterns that will safeguard the health of female adolescents. Offer nutritious foods rather than criticizing and nagging, advise registered dietitians.

"There is little that parents can do about what their daughter eats away from home, but what's on the table and in the refrigerator will influence a girl's total dietary intake," Dr. Endres noted.

Quick and easy snacks

Teens want quick and easy-to-eat foods. Some good snacks are low-fat milk, cheese and yogurt, cold chicken, pizza, fruit, fortified cereal, raw vegetable sticks and whole grain muffins.

Parents can help teens limit calories and control weight at meals by serving moderate portions of healthful foods, simply prepared, and by providing milk and fruit juices rather than carbonated beverages.

Lots of food hurts, not helps, anorexics

Anorexia nervosa, an eating disorder that affects thousands of school-age female adolescents across the country, has come under increasing national attention in the past several years.

According to a recent article in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, encouragement to inhale large amounts of food is the last thing that victims of anorexia need.

Urging an already paranoid anorexic to switch from eating practically nothing to a diet of last night's beefy meals, snacks and desserts can only make them more paranoid, say Diane M. Huse, R.D., and Al-cander R. Lucas, M.D., of Mayo Clinic.

Instead, small, slow increases in food consumption are psychologically beneficial because the strategy weans the anorexic away from the shock of forcing herself to eat.

In addition to a gradual increase in weight, the authors also recommend therapeutic counseling to help anorexics develop realistic body images.

Help for children home alone: Learning to deal with potentially dangerous situations

There are more than five million latchkey children in the United States—children ages five to 13 who spend time at home alone while their parents work.

There is more than one way to handle a potentially dangerous situation. Responsible adults. However, parents who must leave their children at home alone should discuss safety and crime prevention with them, says the PTA.

The 5.6 million member child-advocacy organization also suggests teaching children how to cope with being alone, homework, and how to deal with potentially dangerous situations.

Expert advice

Here is advice to parents from "Latchkey Children: Young Children at Home Alone," prepared by the National Crime Prevention Council in cooperation with the National PTA.

Teach children to memorize their name, address, city and state, and their phone number. Make sure they know how to use both a push button and dial phone and how to reach the operator.

Tell them to check in with you or a neighbor immediately after getting home. Teach them never to go in if the door is ajar or a window is broken.

The wide world of education opens its doors to everyone

Back-to-school time means a new beginning for students of all ages

For many people September signifies new beginnings. Children are returning to school, many young adults are embarking on college careers, and those of us who work are finally settling back into a routine now that the lazy days of summer have ended.

One of these September is like New Year's. Every year at this time, we vow to make this school year or this new job better than the year before.

Looking backwards

Those resolves can probably be traced to when we were young children. By the time August rolled around, we were bored with what seemed like the eternal summer. We couldn't wait to get back to school because it meant new friends and new adventures.

Many of us still experience these feelings as September approaches. Just as many of us still experience the same uncertainties we felt when we were in school. Fear of math, trouble with reading or difficulty writing are all experiences that we may take with us into adulthood.

Helping children cope with these difficulties early on can head off problems at a later date. Parents play a key role in helping children combat learning difficulties.

By encouraging the ownership of books and trips to the library, parents can instill a love of reading in their children.

Parents can help children acquire skills for reading through everyday activities. Reading traffic signs or food labels is a good way for your child to become acquainted with the printed word. Cooking together is a terrific way to demonstrate how reading can be used to follow a recipe.

Technology and education

Today's wonderful teaching tools because they help children experiment with the objects, machines and technology of an adult society. This is especially important because of the monumental effect technology is having on education.

Today, teachers rely heavily on microcomputers to help children with language development, mathematical skills and reading. Using computers in the classroom enables students to experience more independent and active learning.

Reading continues to play key role in increasingly technological society

Years ago, some experts predicted the demise of reading in the coming electronic age. The electronic age is now in full swing, however, and reading is still alive and well. In fact, the average person needs a higher level of reading skills than ever before to cope in today's complex society.

Today's world challenges our critical reading skills in many ways, and youngsters will probably need even higher levels of literacy in the future.

"In one context, we may define reading as the human acquisition of knowledge and information," says John C. Manning, president of the 60,000-member International Reading Association. "Increasingly, certain kinds of information will be obtained from computer printouts. But from whatever source, reading will still provide the means of that acquisition."

Demands of complexity

"The increasing complexity and sophistication of our society requires the application of higher mental process skills," adds Manning, a professor of reading instruction at the University of Minnesota.

"I believe that these skills and capacities are best learned in the context of books. They are found in the analysis of character and the understanding of plot in the interaction of persons, event and story."

"Children are best prepared for the complex world of tomorrow through intensive reading in literature and history in the study of the humanities and in the appreciation of art."

The sophistication of the world's technology also creates another important need for critical reading skills, says Bernice E. Cullinan of New York University. Cullinan, the immediate past president of IRA, cites recent studies showing that fear of a nuclear war is the most common fear among children throughout the world.

Learning to evaluate

"We need to teach children to read critically—to evaluate the things they read, to read between the lines and to think carefully about how language is used," adds Cullinan. "We need critical readers to sort out alternatives and to consider results in view of action taken. We need to teach children to think of alternatives to bigger bombs and 'safer' tests."

"We need to teach children to analyze how language is used when people talk about 'acceptable losses' or 'winning' a nuclear war. The names we give bombs and nuclear weapons, such as 'Little Boy' or 'Fat Man,' suggest different images from what they mean in reality."

The rhetoric of war is something our children are growing up with, and the effect factor in helping youngsters become readers.

"Reading with children at home prior to school entrance is the single major factor in school reading success," concludes Manning. "Beyond that, parents should exhibit a lively interest in the printed word by reading books, magazines, newspapers and other kinds of recreational and informational materials. If parents read, their children will read, too!"

Parental impact

Although reading demands have changed over the years, parents remain a key factor in helping youngsters become readers.
